Biglerville H.S. Senior Is Killed While Looking For Muskrats

Lloyd Musselman, 17, Shoots Self In Abdomen

Lloyd E. Musselman, 17-year-old Biglerville high school senior and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Z. Musselman, was fatally injured about 9 o'clock this morning when he was shot in the abdomen by a gun he carried as he crossed a small stream 500 yards from his Butler township home.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, investigated and listed the case as an accidental death by a gunshot wound.

Brother Finds Body

The youth's body was found about 11:30 o'clock this morning by his older brother, Arthur B. Musselman, who lives nearby in Butler township.

Apparently the youth had stumbled or slipped as he crossed a small stream or climbed the bank. In some manner the short-barreled gun loaded with a shotgun shell discharged and struck the boy in the abdomen. The fact that the body was found about 50 feet from the gun was taken to indicate the youth had attempted to reach his home after being wounded, but had collapsed.

Members of the family said that Lloyd and his brother, Glenn, aged 15 years, had gone out about 7:30 o'clock this morning with a flashlight to examine muskrat traps they had set along the small stream near their home. Later Glenn left his brother to go home to get ready to go to school. Lloyd said he would follow in a few minutes.

Ranked High in School

When he failed to return home and did not report at school, a search was begun.

Lloyd ranked high in his class at Biglerville where he was a student in the industrial arts department of the high school.

He was a member of the Bethel Mennonite church at Mummansburg.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Z. Musselman, Gettysburg R. 3, and three brothers and sisters: Richard G., who lives on an adjoining farm; Arthur B., Butler township; Miriam, Glenn, Esther M., Melvin W., Rhoda M., Martha I. and Ruthanna Musselman, all at home.

Funeral Services Thursday

Funeral services Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bender funeral home, Carlisle street, with the Rev. A. Landis, Ephrata, and the Rev. E. J. Berkey, Oronogo, Missouri, officiating. Interment in the Mennonite cemetery at Mummansburg.

Friends may call Wednesday evening after 7 o'clock at the funeral home.

At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in St. James Lutheran church Miss Helen May Conover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Conover, 37 West Middle street, became the bride of J. Dalton Harrow, son of Mrs. Charlotte Harrow, of Boston.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, in the presence of more than 100 relatives and friends of the couple. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Donald Shepherd, Hohokus, New Jersey, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Glenn Weikert of Gettysburg was the best man.

The bride wore a long-sleeved gown of white faille with a sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil was fastened with a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and gardenias. Her attendant wore royal blue and carried a bouquet of pink roses and snapdragons.

SEVEN HOLIDAYS CUT FROM 1943 COURT CALENDAR

Demonstrating their willingness to cooperate in the war effort by spending more time at their posts on the "home front," court house officials, in a conference this morning with Judge W. G. Sheely, decided to cut seven of the 13 holidays off the court calendar and observe only six full holidays in 1943.

The conference was held in connection with the preparation by Judge Sheely of the official court calendar for 1943.

In 1943 court house officials will be closed only on these holidays: New Year's Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day.

On Armistice Day next year, the offices in the court house will close from 11 a. m. until noon only. Previously, the day had been observed as a full holiday.

These days that were full holidays for the court house officials this year and for a number of years were slashed off the 1943 holiday list: Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday, Ascension Day, Labor Day, Columbus Day, General Election Day and Armistice Day.

"The court house officials took this action in line with the war effort. They feel that with war plants and other war-connected agencies omitting holidays, it would not be proper for the court house officials to close," an announcement stated.

NEW FAIRFIELD SHOE FACTORY TO EMPLOY 100 IN TWO WEEKS

Officers of the Fairfield Chamber of Commerce, which was organized in October, announced this afternoon that Fairfield soon will have in operation a shoe factory that will employ 100 men and women.

The Chamber officials said that the Beaudin Shoe company of Hanover today began to move machinery to Fairfield and that two weeks after the moving is completed the factory will be ready for operation. L. E. Beaudin, president of the shoe company, was in Fairfield today to supervise the operations.

The Fairfield factory will be operated as a branch of the plant owned by the company in Hanover and will manufacture women's dress shoes.

Using Community Building

The machines are being moved into the basement of the Fairfield Community building. Mr. Beaudin has leased the basement floor and has taken an option on the entire structure, it was stated today. Present plans call for using the community hall for factory purposes until materials for the construction of new factory buildings become available after the war. The basement that is now being put to use measures 67 x 68 feet. The kitchen and two additional rooms also are being used for storage and stock space.

Officers of the Chamber, which directed the efforts for the factory for the town, today called upon the residents of the community to give their full support to the project. Persons interested in securing employment at the factory should give their names to officers of the Chamber. The group includes H. L. Harbaugh and H. E. Brown, vice president, and Robert B. Martin, treasurer.

C. of C. Meeting Wednesday

Today's announcement followed a general meeting of the Chamber last Friday evening when additional membership pledges were received.

The next Chamber meeting will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Fairfield high school building.

Private John Micks of the Gettysburg substitution of the state motor police, prosecutor in the case, moved for the dismissal with the permission of the district attorney. He told the justice that the charge had been brought on the basis of information secured from witnesses who could not be produced today and on advice of the district attorney's office.

Allies Wrest Offensive From Axis

United Nations' Might Is Growing Bloody Campaign Ahead, However

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Axis forces that for many dark months could fight the war when and where they chose are at last being forced on the defensive along all the world's battlefronts, military authorities said today, and the United Nations, with armed might growing to overwhelming proportions, are on the road to victory.

Yet, these experts agreed, final victory is still long months, if not years, in the future. The bloodiest campaigns—invasion of Nazi Europe and the conquest of Japan—are still to be fought. The greatest sacrifices by the people at home are yet to be made.

Main Objective—Crush Germany

These were regarded as the main elements of the situation in which America found itself as the first year of a war born in treachery at Pearl Harbor closed and the probable pattern of the year ahead began to take shape. Here are the main lines of development anticipated by authorities:

1. The principal effort will be directed at crushing Germany and Italy. The conquest of north Africa is but a preliminary to the big push which may be launched from several directions once the Allied high command decides the time is ripe and their forces are ready.

2. Because of the wisdom of concentrating strength at the main point of attack, operations in the Pacific-Asiatic theater will be largely designed to hold the Japanese in check and, possibly to furnish jumping off places for final operations there when sufficient forces become available.

3. Despite the demands of our own armies, the Russians who started the tide turning against Germany, the Chinese, who have been battling the Japs for five years and other Allies must be given increasing quantities of supplies.

4. America, which lost its rubber resources when the Japanese conquered Malaya and much of its east coast petroleum supplies when U-boats infested the western Atlantic, probably will find it necessary to draw its economic belt tighter and tighter—due not to the achievements of the enemy but to the requirements of our own and Allied armies and navies.

5. Barring some unforeseen internal crackup of Germany, the campaigns to be fought this year may bring victory in sight by the time the second anniversary of Pearl Harbor rolls around. On the other hand, the United Nations forces may encounter some defeats as well as victories in the months ahead and it is certainly not out of the question that the end of the war may still be obscured by the future a year from now.

The important fact to keep in mind, qualified but unquotable officials said, is that from here on the development of the war is in the hands of the United Nations' high command rather than those of Adolf Hitler and war lords in Tokyo. This is exactly the reverse of the situation up to a few weeks ago.

Karlsruhe Attack Follows War's Biggest Daylight Raid Over Europe

London, Dec. 7 (AP)—A strong force of RAF bombers, striking after American and British airmen carried out their biggest daylight assault against the continent, continued the offensive to knock Italy out of the conflict with an attack last night upon one of the bottle-necks in the rail system through which the Nazis sustain their weaker partner.

At a cost of nine planes the British bombed targets in southwest Germany, which Berlin identified as Karlsruhe and Pforzheim, neighboring communications and war factory centers on the most direct route from Germany to Italy.

Hundreds of Bombers Used

The German news agency DNB

said there were killed and injured both at frequently bombed Karlsruhe and at Pforzheim, 16 miles to the southeast. The air ministry did not give the size of the raiding force, but it's assertion that it was a strong one presumably meant that hundreds of bombers were used.

The British announced officially that nine planes were lost; the Germans claimed only five but broadcast a boast that 35 Allied craft were downed in Sunday's massive raids on occupied France and the Netherlands against 17 announced by the RAF.

Karlsruhe is a key junction on the rail line through Switzerland to Italy's industrial north. Much of the coal shipped from Germany to maintain Italian war factories is barged down the Rhine to this point to be loaded on trains.

Pforzheim is on a connecting line over which trains might be rerouted in case of tie-up on the western rail system.

It was assumed that the RAF aimed its bombs at rail yards and shops and factories, including arms plants, at Karlsruhe and the large-scale machinery works at Pforzheim, but the air ministry said bad weather made impossible any accurate observation of the results.

Lying within the area raided last night are such important targets as Stuttgart, Innsbruck, Munich, Salzburg and Augsburg.

The Sunday daylight attack which preceded this assault was described as the biggest of the war.

British observers acclaimed the combined operations as evidence that the Allied drive in north Africa had resulted in no diminution of air strength in the west and that the United Nations now are in position to carry on large scale aerial operations simultaneously on several fronts.

In the Sunday daylight attacks 400 fighters provided cover for 200 British and United States bombers. Squadrons of Flying Fortresses battered the locomotive and carriage works at Lille while big Liberators bombed the German air base at Abbeville. British bombers concentrated their attack on the radio tube factory at Eindhoven, in the Netherlands.

6,641 Japs Killed On Guadalcanal

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Japanese killed by United States soldiers and marines on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons stood at 6,641 today—not counting thousands of Nipponese estimated to have been destroyed by sea action, artillery fire and air bombings.

The Navy said yesterday that the 6,641 figure was based on an actual count of bodies. The report indicated naval authorities here believed the Japanese have received no appreciable reinforcements or supplies since their huge armada was blasted by United States forces in a great naval battle three weeks ago.

American marines, the jungle-trained "raiders" who volunteered for one of the war's most dangerous fighting jobs, wiped out 400 Japanese soldiers and five bases while losing only 17 of their own men, yesterday's communique said. The action, mostly in the jungles of Guadalcanal, occurred over a number of weeks.

Opportunity Gone

Japanese Failed To Follow Smash At Pearl Harbor

Pictures of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, appear on pages three and six.

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Navy's revelation of the magnitude of the disaster at Pearl Harbor made clear today that the Japanese missed a prime opportunity to destroy immediate American seapower in the Pacific and perhaps seize Hawaii.

With eight battleships—all there were in the Hawaiian area—and three cruisers sunk or disabled by the sneak Nipponese blow, American Naval forces in the Pacific a year ago were outweighed four or five to one by the Japanese imperial fleet.

Air defenses of Oahu island lay shattered. Runways of airfields were pitted by bomb craters and clogged with the wreckage of more than 100 planes.

The American warships still able to fight might all have been lost had the Japanese main fleet sought out and engaged them. An invasion of Hawaii, or even a raid in force aimed at final execution of the crippled ships, might well have been successful.

Punishing Blows

Why the Japanese did not follow up their first assault with some such action may never be known until after the war. Perhaps it was preoccupation with other campaigns. Or more probably it was because they themselves in their most hopeful moments never anticipated that such punishing blows could be inflicted on the American fleet in such a short time.

As it was, the Navy was able to tell in its week-end Pearl Harbor anniversary review a story of a

Final Phase Of Drive Mapped

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—The War department reported today that heavy fighting involving armored forces began yesterday and is continuing in the vicinity of Tebourba, where Allied troops are attempting to hold their advanced Tunisian positions against strong Axis counter-attacks.

The text of the War department's communique No. 261:

"North Africa:

"1. Allied aircraft operating in support of our forward troops carried out several sweeps and patrols yesterday. Three enemy aircraft were shot down.

"2. Last night five enemy bombers attacking our forward bases were destroyed. It is now known that on the night of December 4-5, two more enemy bombers were destroyed, making a total of five for that night.

"3. Further reports of Saturday's air operations show that two more enemy aircraft were destroyed and eight more of our planes were lost. One of the fighter aircraft reported missing yesterday has returned to its base.

"4. Heavy fighting in which armored formations were involved took place yesterday in the vicinity of Tebourba and is continuing."

London, Dec. 7 (AP)—Allied commanders were reported today to have "laid plans for the final phase of the Tunisian campaign" at a candlelight conference in a farm house kitchen late yesterday while heavy fighting raged on in the Tebourba-Mateur sectors.

A Reuters dispatch from the battle front told of the conference. Heights dominating Tebourba, strategic communications center 20 miles west of Tunis, are securely held by Allied troops, the Morocco radio said in a broadcast recorded in London.

Allied Pounding Continues

Allied fighters, still handicapped by the lack of wholly prepared advance air fields, were declared nevertheless to be attacking German and Italian positions continuously while bombers pounded Tunis, Bizerte and Tripoli.

A Reuters correspondent with the British First Army reported in a frontline dispatch that British commandos and parachutists landed

2 WOMEN HURT AS AUTO SKIDS

Two women were hurt, one possibly seriously, when the car in which they were riding skidded on icy streets in Abbotstown Sunday morning and hit a parked machine and a tree. Damage to the cars involved totaled about $450. It was estimated by Private George Ackerson of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police, who investigated.

Miss Mary E. Glise, 28, Thomasville, the driver, is a patient in the Hanover hospital suffering from bruises about the face and head and a possible fracture of the skull. Miss Bernice Shaeffer, 21, also of Thomasville, escaped with bruises, but also was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Their car was traveling toward York when it skidded on the road made slippery by a light snowfall, struck the parked machine of Charles F. Shultz, Abbotstown, and came to rest against a tree. The accident occurred about 3:15 o'clock.

TEACHER SHOTS DEER

Donald A. Ullrich, teacher at the Lincoln school building, shot a 6-point buck on Saturday near Pine Grove Furnace. The animal weighed 110 pounds. Other members of the party were John Black, Ronald Bream, Paul Mehring, Clair Vanduyke, all Gettysburg school teachers, and Glenn Punt.

JAP KILLED, 9 HURT IN RIOTING IN CALIFORNIA

Manzanar, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP)—One Japanese was killed and nine wounded last night when soldiers, rushed by a mob of rioting Nipponese at the Manzanar relocation center, fired on the crowd. Project Director Ralph P. Merritt said today. The flare-up came shortly after Merritt asked military police to place the camp, housing approximately 10,000 Japanese, under martial law. Merritt attributes the trouble to "a celebration of Pearl Harbor by the pro-Axis group among the Japanese."

Merritt issued this statement: "This started out to be a celebration of the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, sponsored by pro-Axis Japanese. Loyal Japanese-Americans tried to stop it but failed."

Martial Law
"The rioting brought a crisis that made necessary the calling out of military police and the placing of Manzanar under martial law as a protection for the people of Manzanar and Inyo county."

"When, in the opinion of military police, complete order has been restored and the FBI and other government agencies have completely cleaned up the agitators and leaders, the camp will be returned to its normal administration."

"I want to congratulate the Japanese on the center's police force which tried to cope with the situation, the staff of the Caucasian police for what they have done, and the loyal Japanese in the camp."

One Japanese was badly beaten and another jailed in earlier phases of the disorder which mounted in violence until the frenzied mob rushed a cordon of military police with stones and clubs.

Quelled Early Outburst
Troops had entered the camp in response to Merritt's earlier demands that the military take over policing the camp where police duties are usually entrusted to a staff of Japanese and Caucasian peace officers.

The soldiers with fixed bayonets and mounted machine guns were successful in quelling the early stages of the rioting, but later as the crowd gathered into a mob, they were forced to resort to firing a barrage of tear gas.

WEDGE IN BUNA IS MAINTAINED

Allied Headquarters, Australia, Dec. 7 (AP)—Allied troops maintained their newly driven wedge through Japanese positions to the sea between Buna village and Buna mission throughout the day today and threw back a strong Japanese patrol which penetrated American lines at Cape Endiadeere.

The Allied forces cut the long, narrow Japanese beachhead on northeast New Guinea into new segments yesterday by driving to the beach near Buna village. The advanced Allied position was under fire from Japanese guns within the village all day.

Australian 25-pounders hammered at the mission area throughout the night in answer to heavy machine-gun and artillery fire.

The Japanese were reported to have suffered losses in their attacks of American lines at Cape Endiadeere southeast of Buna.

(R. B. Leonard, war correspondent of the Melbourne Herald, said the latest wedge was hammered through to the coast by American soldiers supported by Australian artillery.)

(He said the operation had been a difficult one, the Americans being forced to penetrate swampy mangrove country in the face of heavy enemy fire.)

Battlefront reports said fighting was progressing at Buna village. The wedge was driven between the village and the mission, which is a mile to the east, at the eastern end of the Buna-Gona battleline.

"Pressure was maintained on the enemy in other sectors," an Allied headquarters communique said.

The Allies now have reached beach positions at four places—on each side of Buna and on each side of Gona.

At the point of the latest Allied penetration, the Japanese have a series of stockades along the beach and reports from war correspondents said the foe had but three choices, to fight to the death, to surrender or an attempt to escape by the sea.

The 23 baby beef club members in this county have made arrangements to have their choice Angus calves hauled to Lancaster on Tuesday.

WICKARD LEADS FOOD PROGRAM

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, who grew up on the farm and who believes bread is as important as bullets in winning a war, today was in complete charge of supplying the greatest food needs in American history.

President Roosevelt directed the 49-year-old Wickard yesterday to assume "full responsibility for and control over" the nation's food program, an undertaking that must reach unprecedented proportions next year in order to help feed the armed forces, the Allies and liberated countries.

In another week-end move to centralize wartime authority, President Roosevelt put control in the hands of military manpower in the hands of Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower commission.

An executive order transferred the Selective Service system, heretofore an independent agency, to McNutt's office, suspended voluntary enlistments in the armed forces and directed both the Army and Navy to get their recruits hereafter from Selective Service, and empowered McNutt to direct that hiring of workers in any occupation or area he might designate should be done through the United States Employment service, which he also directs. The order also permits McNutt to channel workers into the most essential jobs, from those less essential.

Even before the order was released the Army announced it had stopped inducting men over 38 years of age and had paved the way for honorable discharge of such men already inducted if they can serve the war effort better as civilians.

The Navy may still enlist volunteers 17 years of age, as it has been doing, and both the Army and Navy may enlist specialists over 38 years old, but the order was designed to give unified supervision over military and civilian manpower procurement and disposition for all men between the ages of 18 and 38.

Wickard, who estimates that up to 25 per cent of the 1942 output will be required for lend-lease and the armed forces, takes over the marketing and distribution supervision formerly exercised by the War Production Board.

Included in this is supervision of food rationing, although the transfer of authority is not expected to mean any changes in the present rationing programs of sugar and coffee and the prospective rationing of meat. These programs will continue to be administered through the Office of Price Administration.

Wickard, a Hoosier farmer who says that "good food and plenty of it is one of the best missionaries for democracy that I know of," becomes the fourth single director of a national resource in President Roosevelt's official war family.

The others are Manpower, Paul V. McNutt; rubber, William M. Jeffers, and petroleum, Harold Ickes.

Although he receives no new title, Mr. Roosevelt's order placed Wickard on an equal footing with WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson in case of conflict, with the President as final arbiter.

ALLIES CONTROL

three days ago along the coast behind the German lines, fought their way inland seven miles to the south and cut a road. The exact locale of this action was not given.

British and American bombers and fighters lashed at Axis communications between Italy and north Africa in week-end raids. Reggio aldrone, in the extreme south of Italy, was hit Saturday night. Docks at Bizerte were blasted and a railway line between Bouise and Sfax, along the coast of the French protectorate was shot up. A Cairo communique said.

Allied lines were reported here to be holding firm despite dive-bombing attacks as reserves and supplies moved up, mile by mile, for the final offensive.

A Vichy radio broadcast recorded in London, however, asserted that British forces were retreating west of Tobrouka, and the Italian high command declared that "mopping up operations" had been completed at that town after four days of fighting which cost the Allies heavily in men and material.

Aerial blows were emphasized in reports from Allied quarters and the Morocco radio said that "in the course of four weeks of fighting, the Axis has lost in Tunisia 139 aircraft and the Allies 74."

Indications that the Nazis regarded as inevitable the ultimate loss of all north Africa were seen in reports that they had told the Italian high command to order the evacuation of civilians from Sicily, strategic Mediterranean island which might conceivably be used by the Allies as a stepping stone to invade Italy.

The Morocco radio, which broadcast the reports, said the Germans planned to establish a strong military garrison in Sicily, which they already are using as an air base.

All reports from the front spoke of violent and repeated German dive-bombing attacks on the Allied positions, making it evident that the Allies had not been able to move sufficient fighter planes and main-

RUSSIANS GAIN ON TWO FRONTS

Bern, Switzerland, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the Basler Nachrichten reported today that German military circles admitted parts of the German Army before Stalingrad had been cut off between the Don and Volga and that these forces had to be supplied by air.

Moscow, Dec. 7 (AP)—German resistance, stiffened by air-borne reinforcements, was growing on the central front west of Moscow today, but the Russians announced they had battered down 20 counterattacks of German-held Rzhev and killed 1,000 Nazis in a three-day advance along the important Rzhev-Vyazma railroad line.

The Russian offensive gained ground both on the central front and southwest of Stalingrad, it was reported, although the Germans were bursting out of their snow-covered positions in desperate counterattacks. Northwest of the Volga stronghold the Red Army was reported tightening its hold on both banks of the Don river.

The mid-day communique said the Russians, after repulsing all counter-attacks, were consolidating captured positions. In fierce fighting which accompanied these German counterattacks, 1,800 Germans were reported killed in one sector and 300 in another. The mid-day communique reported two more companies of enemy infantry were wiped out by a scout unit.

Southwest of Stalingrad, the Russians said they killed 250 more of Hitler's troops in dislodging the Germans from a fortified position.

The Germans, after nearly three weeks of the Russian offensive, were still clinging to their foothold in the northern factory suburbs of Stalingrad and apparently were maintaining some lines of communication, but they have been unable to improve their positions in the steppes between the Don and the Volga.

Pro Gridders End Loop Season; Bears Meet Redskins For Championship

EXPECT ROUGH GAME WHEN OLD RIVALS CLASH

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP)—The tale of statistics, which may or may not tell the true story of a team's ability, greatly favors the Chicago Bears over the Washington Redskins in their championship playoff Sunday at the nation's capital.

Plugging out the facts:

1. The passing and punting of Sammy Baugh and the running of Andy Farkas must offset the tremendous line shattering power of Garry Fiamigletti, Hugh Gallarneau and Frank Maznicki, the whizzing end dashes of Ray McClean and aerial work of the Sid Luckman-Charley O'Rourke duo which mixes up a terrific deceptive attack from the T.

2. The line play will be vicious, and the game may be determined by the men up front. The Bear forwards are considered stronger, especially in view of superior reserve strength.

3. Washington possibly has the better pass defense. And the accuracy of Baugh's passes is attested by fewer interceptions although he has thrown more than the two Bear pitchers.

4. The playoff should be one of the roughest in history. Abundance of penalties show that both teams play for keeps.

Final standings of the league:

EASTERN DIVISION

Bender On Army Basketball Squad

Al Bender, former Gettysburg college football, basketball and baseball star, is a member of the 1301st Service Unit basketball team at New Cumberland. The soldiers will open their season Tuesday evening by meeting Indian town, Gap on the latter's floor.

The New Cumberland team will play the Gettysburg college Bullets here January 6.

Grid Conference Meeting Tonight

L. V. Stock, C. L. Yost, Robert Noll, Ellis McCracken and Dale Smith will represent Biglerville high school at the meeting.

MAKES SOCIAL REGISTER

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Walter C. Pew, Jr., who, before her marriage last July, handled gasoline ration books as a Sun Oil company service station attendant, was listed today in Philadelphia's "Blue Book," the 1943 social register. Among other newcomers was the former Betty Pope, captain of the chorus in a Philadelphia roof garden. She was married May 15 at Jacksonville, Florida, to Lieut. Henry Bain, 3rd, scion of the socially prominent Disston family.

Gas Assured For War Workers

Pittsburgh, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration today promised ample gasoline to eliminate the transportation problem hundreds of war workers faced here during the first week of gasoline rationing.

An OPA spokesman who declined to permit the use of his name also ridiculed reports that bus companies hauling workers to and from war plants in the Pittsburgh industrial area would have to suspend operations in some sections because of failure of OPA to furnish authorization for extra fuel rations. He declared:

"Bus companies and essential workers can get temporary permits for extra rations merely by applying to their local rationing boards. There is absolutely no reason why bus companies should have to suspend operations or why essential workers should have to stop driving to work because they can't buy gasoline."

Officials of two bus companies had said they would have to stop runs today unless forms for bulk gasoline coupons were furnished.

Broadcast Will Feature Bullet, Dickinson Game

Joe Hasel, sports commentator for WJZ of the Blue network of the National Broadcasting company, will feature his talk Tuesday evening at 8:05 o'clock with a summary of the Gettysburg-Dickinson college football game played here November 21.

The game, which was won by the Bullets 45-20, drew nationwide prominence through the two successive runs for touchdowns by opposing players in the first minute of play.

Dickinson kicked off to the Bullets and Chuck Beaver scampered 95 yards for a touchdown. After Hardy passed to Pryling for the extra point the Bullets kicked to Dickinson. Rehner took the ball on his own 23 yard stripe, took two steps and handed the ball to Prescott who raced down the side line for 75 yards and another touchdown. The score was knotted on the next play when Overcash converted on a placement.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—There's material for a mile of columns in this date, and in what has happened to the sports world since Pearl Harbor Day a year ago. . . . So today's space will be turned over to the service dept.—to the famous and obscure athletes who are wearing Uncle Sam's uniforms, to the service men who engage in athletic contests in the little spare time they have or who merely follow sports from the spectator's seats with as keen interest as they ever did in civilian life. . . . And did you notice that the signal which sent American forces into action in northern Africa was "play ball"?

Capl. Gordon Symptom hailed as the first American to land in Morocco, was a star halfback on the University of Kentucky football team in 1937. . . . And another former footballer, pharmacist's mate William J. Linsdau, who is home in Detroit recovering from slight wounds received at the start of the African campaign, scoffs: "Me a casualty? Why, I've come home from high school football games more banged up than I am now."

The crack basketball teams of the Norfolk Naval Training station and the Norfolk Naval Air station will reverse the usual procedure next Friday when they play for the benefit of a Christmas fund sponsored by Norfolk newspapers. Port Story's team also will be on the card. Many of the past year's sports events have been for Army and Navy benefits. . . . Sergt. Larry Archambault of the Tank corps, former Pittsburgh and Cleveland hockey player, has been stationed at Pine Camp, New York, Fort Knox, Kentucky, and Camp Cooke, California, since he entered the Army in May, 1941. It was all okay with Larry until he went on desert maneuvers, where the temperature rose to 138 degrees, then he protested it was a bit warm for a hockey player. . . . When Barney Olsen, former Chicago Cubs outfielder, reported at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, he was assigned to duties under Seaman Fido Murphy. . . . "What, you again?" bellowed Barney. . . . The last time they had met was when Olsen was playing for Moline in the Three-eye league and Murphy, an umpire, chased him from the game.

Two of the finest tributes received by Georgia's Rose Bowl-bound football team at the end of the season were cables from alumni in the combat zones. . . . One from northern Africa said: "Congratulations on a great season. Please send Charlie Trippi over here to help us catch Rommel. At present he is running like hell." . . . Another from England said: "We'll meet you after the Rose Bowl game in either Berlin or Tokyo."

The Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school football team opened its season with a 61-0 victory over Kansas and closed it Saturday against another Big Six team, Missouri—but fewer than half the men who faced Kansas were available for the Missouri game. . . . Joe Cohn, Public Relations representative of the five New York race tracks, is closing his office December 31 because he hopes to be re-commissioned in the Army. He's a World war I veteran. . . . Ten of 24 basketball games scheduled by the University of Virginia this season are against service teams. . . . Corp. Johnny Beazley, a World series star just a couple of months ago, reports: "I haven't run into a soldier yet who has any grudge against all ballplayers not being in the service. Instead, they want to talk baseball and listen to it and read about it."

Willie Pep Fastest Ring Stepper; May Meet Wilson

By DILLON GRAHAM

AP Sports Editor

New York—Giuseppe Papaleo, a 20-year-old Connecticut Italian, is the most accomplished cyclist to show in the Big Town this year.

There are no six-day bike races now but in Madison Square Garden's ring the other night Papaleo, known as Willie Pep, hopped on his bicycle and gave a 45-minute performance of fancy riding such as has seldom been seen hereabouts.

He rode backwards in circles faster than Albert (Chalky) Wright could move forward and thereby captured the New York State Commission's version of the world's featherweight championship. It was one of the prettiest exhibitions by a ring jockey since Bob Pastor pedaled 10 rounds against Joe Louis, five years ago.

Now, Pep is recognized as the champion in New York but 15 miles away, in his home town of Hartford, he is just the local pride, a king without a crown. For Connecticut's boxing commission is affiliated with the National Boxing Association which has regarded Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson, rather than Wright, as the top featherweight.

Iron Out Trouble

The difference between the two main ruling bodies of boxing—New York and NBA—which once saw almost a complete separate slate of champions, have largely been ironed out and now they are at odds only as concerns the feathers and bantams. Lou Salica, the bantam ruler, was whipped by Manuel Ortiz in California. The NBA promptly handed him the title but New York stood by Salica on the grounds that their bout was at 12 rounds whereas in this state all championship affairs must be scheduled for 15.

Efforts are being made to match Pep and Wilson to clear up the title dispute. Wilson is a harder puncher and a more experienced ringman but whether he can catch Pep and keep up with this speedy cyclist long enough to hit him remains to be seen.

54 Straight Wins

This peppy Pep, who has won 54 consecutive fights, is a better than fair boxer and carries enough of a wallop to shape up a foe. He had the situation under control all through his tactical retreat, out-footing ol' Chalky and keeping the negro veteran away with a swift left jab. Occasionally, he surprised Wright by suddenly stopping and exchanging punches. And he did better than all right, hitting faster and landing more blows than Chalky. Pep also handled himself extremely well along the ropes and in getting out of corners. The Chalk was too late with too little. He took things easy too long and when he finally began seriously stalking Pep, he found he couldn't catch him.

Around Hartford, Pep is known as a fast-moving, fast-hitting slambang type fighter. He altered his style altogether when he got his big title chance. He figured, probably very correctly, that the only way to beat The Chalk was to stab and run; that he didn't carry enough ammunition to punch it out with the champ. If they should be matched again, Pep might make more of a fight of it. Winning the crown has given him more confidence and he may now feel that he is competent to tangle with Chalky at closer quarters.

Chances are, though, that he would beat Chalky again, that he would beat Wilson when and if they fight, and that he's likely to hold the crown for sometime. He has too much gas in his engine for the other feathers.

SPORT SHORTS

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 7 (AP)—

There weren't many good ball carriers in the Southwest conference this football season, Flem Hall of the Star Telegram said, so he picked his all star team accordingly. Hall's selection included two centers, four guards, a tackle, two ends and two backs.

Kansas City, Dec. 7 (AP)—Jack, the skillful Pointer which helps Charles Green bring in the quail, is a thoroughbred.

Peppered with about 50 bird shot and blinded in one eye by Green's hunting companion who fired too low into a covey of quail, Jack wouldn't leave the field. After a little first aid, he was on point again.

Boulder, Colo., Dec. 7 (AP)—Colorado

University alumni received Chatty letters from Coach Jim Yeager throughout the season after each football game.

But the alumnus who found a blank sheet of white paper in his letter after Colorado took a 13-0 licking from Utah got the wrong idea.

Yeager was not speechless, he defended. The mimeograph machine skipped a beat and the blank sheet was mailed accidentally. The letter that week, in fact, was extra long.

Scranton Wins

Eastern Title

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—

Scranton Central high school was ranked today with New Castle, Tyrone and Bethlehem among champions of Pennsylvania's major scholastic football leagues.

Central won the Eastern conference title Saturday. The northern division champs stopped previously unbeaten Shenandoah, southern division titlists, 13-7, in the playoff game. New Castle holds the WPIAL Class AA title, Tyrone the Western conference championship and Bethlehem led the Big 15.

Northeast high school won the Philadelphia public high school league title Saturday, defeating Germantown, 29 to 6, and will clash with St. Joseph's, Catholic league champs, next Saturday for the city crown.

A'S GOING TO GEORGIA

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics will stay closer to home than usual for their spring training this year. Connie Mack announced the A's will train in Savannah, Georgia. He said he had considered a Florida site but decided on Savannah to comply with an ODT request that Major league teams curtail travel. President Gerry Nugent of the Phils said he has not selected a site but mentioned Augusta, Georgia, as a possible choice.

An Evening Thought

There is a healthful hardness about real dignity that never dreads contact and communion with others, however humble.—Irving.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

DECEMBER 7, 1942

Dawns this day of death again,
Day of treachery double-dyed,
Day forever to remain
Unto evil set aside!

Once again the dead appear,
Summoned from their sleep to die,
And they'll do it every year
While the sun is in the sky.

Ghosts of youngsters brave and true,
Fine and stalwart to the man
Will return in pale review
To the shame of all Japan.

When the troubled world is free
And the broken are made whole,
Symbol still this day will be
Of a land without a soul!

THE JOY OF DISCOVERY

Each of us has more latent worth than any of us ever dream. This has been demonstrated again and again. Emergency, or necessity, makes discoverers of us all!

How much more important it is for each one of us—and the world at large as well—to make it a habit to adventure by oneself, and to seek discovery without waiting for the emergency or the necessity.

Many of our physicians have turned to literature and have become far more famous and happier than if they had gone on with their chosen profession. Dr. A. J. Cronin is an example among many.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was another. Had it not been for the alert mind of Joseph Conrad and his interest in human beings, he would have long ago been forgotten as a ship's master rather than one of the world's masters of the English language.

I had a long talk with an old friend recently who took up the study he has written seven books yard and through brief trips with his son to nearby places. From his study he has written seven books that are as fascinating as fine novels. Thoreau was forever getting joy out of his tramps through the discovery of new plants and through the study of the habits of all living outdoor inhabitants.

The brain is a wonderful organ. You can plant ideas in it and they grow. They sprout into other ideas, and through the use and development of this marvelous gift of the mind, many a person has been led into new fields of discovery and thrilling experiences, adding to the joy and zest of life.

We never know what a world of joy lies buried within us, latent and undeveloped, until we begin to dig and seek its discovery. No one else is going to tell us of our undiscovered joys, however. We have to do the job ourselves.

History, the arts, and literature are rich with the stories of unknowns who went upon journeys of discovery—within themselves or out into the world—in order to discover themselves that they might reap the joy!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The People"

They have realized a very handsome sum. They are very grateful for the patronage received.

We must be allowed to remark that there is but one opinion in the community, in regard to the untiring industry and perseverance of the Ladies. They have indeed won the good opinions of us all.

Died: On Tuesday last, Ephraim Pfoutz, son of Mr. John Pfoutz, of Franklin township, aged 17 years.

On Wednesday, in Menallen township, Miss Mary Ann Schlosser, daughter of Mr. Jacob S. Schlosser, in the 22nd year of her age.

Soldiers' National Cemetery: The Philadelphia Press has a letter from David Willis, Esq., President of the Soldiers' National Cemetery, in reply to inquiry as to the progress of the work. The monument was to be completed by the first of next July, but unavoidable delays may require a postponement of the contemplated dedication of the monument on the next anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg.

Mr. Willis, the President of the ASsociation, deserves much credit for his active agency in this enterprise. Having first conceived and recommended to Governor Curtin the project of a National Cemetery soon after the battle of Gettysburg, he has ever since given much time and attention to its prosecution. For long years it will be one of the great attractions of the battlefield.

Special Court: A special Court will be held next week, commencing on Monday, for the trial of civil cases, including the Calverton Springs case.

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (AP)—The battleship USS New Jersey, heaviest warship ever launched, goes down the ways at the Philadelphia Navy yard today to join another mighty warship, the aircraft carrier USS Belleau Wood, already afloat on the placid Delaware river.

As hundreds of workers at the yard, described by the commandant as "the biggest in the nation and probably in the world," checked the final details of launching, the Fourth Naval District Public Relations office recalled that the New Jersey and the USS Iowa, launched August 27 at the Brooklyn Navy yard, were announced originally as 45,000 tonners.

Incorporate New Lessons
The Nav. revealed that designs of both battleships were changed to incorporate lessons learned in World War II, and that the New Jersey is of slightly greater tonnage displacement than the Iowa.

Especially significant on the anniversary of Pearl Harbor was the Navy notation that "Jane's fighting ships and other unofficial sources have indicated that the ship carries far greater anti-aircraft batteries and protective armor than her sister-ships of World War I design which were victimized by planes at Pearl Harbor."

Philadelphia, Dec. 7 (AP)—The battleship USS New Jersey, heaviest warship ever launched, goes down the ways at the Philadelphia Navy yard today to join another mighty warship, the aircraft carrier USS Belleau Wood, already afloat on the placid Delaware river.

Speakers at the ceremony will be Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal and Governor Charles Edison of New Jersey, who, as undersecretary of the Navy, laid the keel September 16, 1940. Mrs. Edison will christen the ship with a bottle of New Jersey champagne.

Launching at Cramp's
The Belleau Wood, originally laid down as a cruiser was launched yesterday on the other side of the river at the Camden (N.J.) yard of New York Shipbuilding company.

Third aircraft carrier to be launched there with 15 weeks. Others were the Independence, August 22, and the Princeton, November 9.

Tomorrow a third mighty warship, the cruiser USS Miami, slides into the Delaware at the Philadelphia yard of the Cramp Shipbuilding company. It will be the first launching of a major warship at Cramp's since 1924.

General Headquarters, Dec. 7 (AP)—Two Pennsylvania gunnery sergeants whose devastating fire created confusion on the decks of Japanese battleships off Sumatra last February are among several more American fliers to be decorated here for gallantry.

The recipients are Sergt. Edward B. Mallinay, Chestnut Ridge, Pa., and Sergt. Regis D. Weinmiller, Etna, Pa. Both received oak leaf clusters, signifying their second citations for silver stars.

In addition Private First Class Charles J. Correll of Kasja, Pa., has received his second award of the purple heart. He was wounded near Port Moresby, New Guinea, August 17.

Mallinay and Weinmiller were members of the crew of a Flying Fortress which attacked a Japanese task force off Palembang on February 18.

At a height of 1,400 feet, the gunners destroyed a landing barge loaded with troops and severely damaged a transport unloading men and supplies.

Their accurate gunfire, replying to heavy anti-aircraft activity, caused great confusion on the decks of warships attempting to shield the transports.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

With the British Eighth Army in Libya at Bengasi, Dec. 7—This lull in the fighting on the Libyan front should not be taken as indicating any slackening of the Allied effort to oust the Axis from northern Africa, for it is merely a period of intensive preparation for resumption of what is one of the decisive battles of the whole war.

Marshal Erwin Rommel knows that, and he is straining every nerve to get set at El Agheila to meet the fresh onslaught which is inevitable. His operations are quite apparent to us on this side of the line for in these days of aerial magic the sky is one huge cyclopean eye which sees pretty much all that passes beneath.

Much Activity
This whole great desert-splashed zone of both the Allied and Axis sides is swarming with activity like one of the myriad anthills which dot its surface. I have been crossing and recrossing hundreds of miles of this inhospitable territory—a killer desert of hills and deep cut gorges which the natives call Jebels and waddies—and can testify that the war is moving apace.

The present lull is a perfectly normal thing. In the short period of a month the Eighth Army chased the fleeing Hitlerites like rabbits across some 700 miles of desert. Now, that is a terrific performance both for the pursuer and pursued, since the movement of an army even 20 miles with all its supplies is a mighty job. These difficulties are multiplied in the Libyan desert because even drinking water must be transported long distances and there are few highways to accommodate this movement of men and materials.

Going Away from Bases
Then, too, Rommel was running towards his home territory where he had not only a favorable place to make a stand but also supplies and reinforcements. Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Eighth Army commander, on the other hand was racing away from his bases as fast as he could go and it must be logged as one of the great tactical achievements of this war that he was able to cover such a distance and arrive strong enough to oust the Germans from their strategic port of Bengasi.

Things look good now in Eighth Army territory. Naturally I cannot give details about military movements but the most important thing which could possibly be recorded is that the morale of the army is absolutely top hole. That includes our Yankee airmen who are doing such a grand job on this front.

From my own observation I know the men are confident they will drive the Boche into the sea and they are eager to get ahead with the job. That fighting spirit is the first requisite for victory.

At the same time there is no disposition to underrate the striking power still in the enemy's hands. Indications are that there will be a hard, bloody battle.

Surprise Tactics
Rommel's line at El Alamein was shattered by surprise tactics. Montgomery outsmarted him. There was a fierce engagement there which a times produced hand to hand fighting and Axis casualties were heavy. But that clash wasn't protracted for the Nazi marshal took to his heels to save himself.

Now, however, the Axis commander is in a strategically strong position. He has had time to get his breath after his headlong retreat and he has been receiving reinforcements and supplies from the continent, although it is highly likely that some of the aid intended for him, especially warplanes, has been diverted to support Axis forces in Tunisia.

In any event, whether Rommel likes it or not he must make the stand of his life at El Agheila. He is being made the goat to perform he holding operation in northern Africa while his lord and master has a chance to get set to defend himself on the continent. Hitler is in an uncomfortable position at the moment for he is not only being backed heavily on the Russian front, but there is a threat to Italy, southern France and the English Channel coastline. Der Fuehrer must e-line his forces so as to meet these contingencies.

"Task Not Finished"
There is no doubt in my mind that the ever self-confident Montgomery expects to take the measure of Hitler's desert captain who is asked by many experts as the outstanding German general of the war. It is interesting as I sit here in this bomb-shattered port of Bengasi not so far from Rommel's front defenses to recall Montgomery's message to his troops November 11 after the Eighth Army had driven the Axis forces from Egypt:

"Our task is not finished yet. The Germans are out of Egypt but there are still some left in North Africa. There is some good hunting to be had farther west in Libya and our leading troops are now in Libya ready to begin."

Pennsylvanians Hunt For Scrap Metal Today

Harrisburg, Dec. 7 (AP)—Pennsylvanians hunted for 10 pounds per capita of scrap metal today—to "avenge Pearl Harbor."

The drive was inaugurated at the suggestion of Governor James, who said a state collection of 50,000 tons of scrap would be a fitting way to mark the first anniversary of the Japanese attack.

At the same time, the state Defense council asked churches to emphasize the need for old metal and three counties—were Adams, Northumberland and Lancaster—selected today to receive War Production board victory pennants for exceeding 100 pounds per capita in the recent scrap harvest drive.

FAMILY UNITED

Cleveland, Dec. 7 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pike and formerly of Altoona, Pa., and their son, Richard, Jr., 2, were together again today after a two-weeks separation which ended when police found the baby here Saturday with two Altoona sisters. The baby's father refused to bring charges against the sisters, who are being held for return to Altoona. He told Policewoman Cecilia Heidinger that he had asked them to care for the child while he sought work at Lorain, Ohio.

FEWER RELIEF CASES

Harrisburg, Dec. 7 (AP)—A reduction of 409 cases during the final week of November cut Pennsylvania's relief rolls to 34,023 cases containing 46,898 persons, the Department of Public Assistance reports. Private employment total 160 cases and WPA activity 84 cases to continue the trend, the department's weekly report noted yesterday. Expenditures for the week were $158,508, a drop of $270 from the previous week.

INFANT SPREADS ALARM

Cleveland, Dec. 7 (AP)—The cries of 10-month-old Robert Palazzo, Jr., served as a fire alarm which enabled 35 persons to escape a burning building today. When Robert awakened at his usual feeding time and began to cry, his parents found their apartment filled with smoke. They gave the alarm to other occupants of the combined business and apartment building.

INDUCTION INSTRUCTIONS

Harrisburg, Dec. 7 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 422 local draft boards were notified today to halt inductions of men who reached their 38th birthdays on Saturday. State Selective Service headquarters, following a new order received from national headquarters yesterday, said the notice applies to men who become 38 in the future.

8 QUESTIONS WILL REQUIRE SOLONS' TIME

By JACK BELL

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—With final adjournment only four weeks away, the 77th Congress found on its hands today a holiday log-jam that had no relation to the Yule variety.

Stacked up in committees and on the calendars of both houses were eight bundles of legislative controversy which—if a quorum remained in town—promised to keep members busy up to January 2 with a brief interlude for Christmas.

A House-approved proposal to jack up the basis for computing agricultural parity prices by including all farm labor costs. Advocates said they would attempt to prevent the Senate from voting finally on any other legislation until this measure, fought by administration supporters, is considered.

A narrowed war powers bill authorizing the President to suspend tariffs but not immigration regulations. House approval was considered possible but there was doubt that the Senate would get around to it.

A house-approved bill granting a $5,000,000,000 increase in borrowing authority to the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Republicans planned to offer a compromise amendment in the Senate forcing an accounting of the funds.

A compromise measure, before the Senate Civil Service committee today, which would increase the work week of "white collar" government employees from 44 to 48 hours and give them a "bonus" of 20 per cent increase on their annual pay up to $2,900 yearly. The log-jam made passage doubtful.

An administration proposal to extend government rent controls to commercial property not now covered by law. The House passed the bill in broad form, but the Senate Banking committee revised it to cover only defense areas and property operated by war contractors.

Chapter 13

Off For Frisco

The curtain had just risen for the last act when Gloria knocked on Clark's dressing room door. Duffy, glass in hand, opened it. He blinked at the picture she made in her long, clinging evening gown and sleek sable, with a fresh camellia crowning her black hair, then salaamed with Oriental dignity.

"If I hadn't only tasted this Scotch I'd think I was seen' things. You look too beautiful to be real!" Gloria laughed and swept in past him to survey with amusement the array of bottles and silver bucket of cracked ice on Clark's dressing table. "Is this a private drinking party or can anyone get in?"

"I was just fixin' myself a little bracer," Duffy explained. "Anyone who's got to put up with a screwball actor and his hairbrained schemes needs a mite of liquid consolation now and then. Scotch or Bourbon?"

"Scotch and make it long." She smiled blandly at the perturbed little Scotchman. "I take it you couldn't dissuade Clark from joining the San Francisco cast."

Duffy shot a dark look in the direction of the two packed and addressed wardrobe trunks. "I talked this afternoon 'til my pipes gave out, and all the time he went right on packing his clothes." He sighed heavily as he shot a hissing stream of seltzer water into a tall glass.

Gloria took a cigarette from her jeweled case and lit it. Then blowing a thin stream of smoke into the room, she spoke slowly, a gleam of assurance in her dark, narrowed eyes.

"Don't worry, Duffy, he's not going tonight." Duffy handed her the glass, wondering.

"Well, here's the set-up. As soon as the show is over, Clark is taking me to the horse show—it's a midnight affair for the benefit of the Red Cross. Everything's all arranged. We're to sit in the mayor's box. The governor will be in our party and a General somebody. Not bad publicity, eh, my honest scribe?"

Duffy took a joyful gulp of his drink. "Great! I'll call Stacy of the 'Times' and Malcomb at the 'Examiner.' We'll have plenty of pictures in the morning editions!" Then suddenly his smile faded, his face relaxed again into its long-suffering hopelessness. "If he doesn't go to Frisco tonight, it'll be the first time I've known him he didn't follow through with his plans," he said dolefully. "When that guy decides to do something, it takes a national calamity to change his mind."

Bait for Clark

Gloria smiled, as Duffy charged across the room to mix himself another drink.

"Duffy, we trouble with you is you're always ready to quit before the fun's half started."

Duffy turned to eye her shrewdly. "You don't mean you have another ace up your sleeve?"

"Darling, I always have another ace up my sleeve!" Gloria laughed.

"Men are so stupid. It's a wonder they ever accomplish anything!" "What is it?" Duffy cried.

"Not much really," she shrugged, deprecatingly. "I just arranged to have Clark on the benefit performance at the White House."

Duffy dropped his glass to grab Gloria's hand and shake it violently.

"This is the biggest thing that's happened to us since the first night we opened on Broadway!" he shouted. "You're a wonder, Gloria Cunningham! Even Clark Pasquin can't afford to walk out on a deal like this!"

Gloria sat preening herself with amused satisfaction.

"Anytime a sweet, simple country gal tries to elbow Gloria Cunningham out of a picture she really wants to be in, she'll have to get up even before her chickens," she murmured.

Duffy answered the ringing phone. Then he turned back to Gloria with a wink.

"Well, this ought to cinch it!" he chuckled. "It was the Western Union reporting Clark's telegram to Rita Ralston was delivered one hour and ten minutes after it was sent. He was sure she didn't get it or she'd have answered."

Gloria winked back. "And such a nice wire, too. Can we help it if she's the rude type that neglects her correspondence?"

Duffy glanced at his wristwatch, then snatched up the phone again. "It's only a little over an hour before that midnight plane leaves for Frisco. I better check with the manager and be sure Clark's understudy makes that plane. The company's opening in Frisco day after tomorrow." He dialed rapidly.

"Charley, this is Stub Duffy. Clark's changed his mind again. Yeah, he isn't going to Frisco. Will you see that Allen makes that midnight plane? Yeah—he thinks he's better stay here and—" Duffy stopped abruptly as he saw Clark framed in the doorway.

It Didn't Work

"What's going on in here?" "What are you two up to?" Clark shut the door, eyeing the two steadily.

Duffy gulped. "Now look, Clark—But Clark took the phone brusquely from him.

"Gloria," he snapped. "This is Pasquin speaking. I'm leaving for Frisco on the midnight plane and Allen is to play the lead here until I return. He slammed the telephone down and turned to face a chagrined Duffy and an amused Gloria.

Gloria drawled, "Don't you think you're a little fast on the draw? I came to tell you that Sydney's arranged for you to head a benefit performance at the White House."

Clark gave a whistle of appreciation. "That's really white of him! Thank him for me, will you? Tell him I'd be delighted, but I've already promised to do two benefit shows on the West Coast."

"That ain't the White House!" Duffy yelled tearfully, resorting once again to the bottle and seltzer water.

"You and your publicity phobia," Clark grinned. "You listen to me, both of you. I'm taking that midnight plane without the shadow of a doubt, and you both might as well stop all this desperate conniving."

He looked about the room, making a last minute check. "And don't forget to call the express company and have them pick up these trunks first thing in the morning. Did you hear?"

"I did," answered Duffy in a muffled and very sad voice.

Before the stunned but furious Gloria could protest, he had picked up his hat, his coat and his bag, had called cheerful farewells, and was off down the hall. The dressing room door banked hollowly behind him.

But receding in the distance was a cheerful whistle.

"He doesn't sound precisely heartbroken about the telegram business, does he?" Gloria snapped. "Not exactly!"

$250,000 Fire In New Kensington

New Kensington, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)

Two downtown buildings were destroyed late Saturday by a $250,000 fire which halted railroad traffic and cast a black pall of smoke over half this Westmoreland county community.

Fire Chief E. J. Clawson said the blaze apparently started in the basement of the two-story Connor building and spread rapidly to the newer three-story Adolph structure through a single connecting wall.

The Central Drug company with its warehouses heavily stocked with Christmas merchandise and offices of the New Kensington Chamber of Commerce and physicians were in the Connor building. The Adolph building housed a large A & P market, a typewriter company, beauty parlor, pool room and bakery.

AD PROGRAMS

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Radio is going into the tryout business for Broadway plays. The Blu network is the medium, and there will be a specially invited studio audience to act as a sort of jury.

Here's how the idea will be carried out: First, there will be no limitation on the length of the play.
The opener will run an hour and a half. Stage setting will be supplied by an announcer, while sound effects and music will be used as necessary.

Like the public audience, the studio jury will not see the actors but will listen via loudspeaker in another room. After the broadcast, this jury, made up of experts on Broadway drama, will have a say as to whether the play warrants production on the stage.

The first broadcast, which is being referred to as an "audition preview," will be at 3 p. m. December 17, with Eddie Dowling as host and narrator.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, reporting on some of her experiences during her recent visit to the British Isles, will speak on the Blu Wednesday night in a program replacing the usual radio forum. Col. R. A. Isker, Quartermaster Corps, also will be heard. . . . When the Bing Crosby hour reduces to 30 minutes after the first of the year, the Rudy Vallee show will move up a half-hour to 9:30 Thursday nights on NBC. . . .
Gypsy Rose Lee, now an author for a second time in addition to her other accomplishments, will be Al
Jolson's guest on CBS Tuesday night.
